JUPITER: LIGHTNING AND THUNDER

a. Greek Zeus-Jupiter, hurling a lightning-bolt. Juergens suggests that this "unreal" bolt may be all too real, a plasmod of electricity of immense power, well beyond the bi-dental fork that represents Jovean lightning in the typical artistic sublimation.

b. Zin-Chin, a Chinese Jupiter-God, the Thundermaker, hawk-like.¹⁰ The Egyptian Horus was also hawk-like.
